CANDIDATE IS SLEEPING

Not to Be Awakened Until the Train Reaches Winona

Says Manager of the Tour

Two coffee-colored porters fastening silk flags to the observation platform—preparing the frame for a day's rear-platform speechifying—were the only signs of life which a group of railroad men and two TRIBUNE reporters found when the seven-car special carrying Governor Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, stopped at North La Crosse this morning. These and a sound of slumber from the Pullman car Sunderland in which the republican nominee was recuperating from his strenuous day in Chicago to open another equally strenuous in the Twin cities.

Charles W. Farnham, manager of the candidate's tour, was just getting up when the special pulled into the north side. He answered the reporter's knock on his stateroom door with a smile which scarcely concealed a large-sized yawn.

Drawing a dressing-gown over his balbriggan, he repelled the charge. No, Mr. Hughes was sleeping. No, he couldn't be seen. No, he wasn't going to be awakened until the train reached Winona. No, it wouldn't be of any use to travel to Winona. Mr. Hughes was to meet prominent Minnesota republicans there and would have no time to see reporters. But the reporter was welcome on the train. "He could come along, and he would be given copies of the speeches."

"Be fair," urged Mr. Farnham when the reporter insisted. "Mr. Hughes is on a three months' tour of the hardest kind, and every day is an exhausting one. It isn't right to stop him at a woodpile and ask for an interview."

The door closed, and the sound of slumber once more took possession of the car.

Hopes to Visit City

Mr. Farnham, however, is authority for the statement that the candidate hopes before the end of the campaign he will be able to visit La Crosse. The information was contained in a telegram which was sent to the TRIBUNE from Detroit, in answer to inquiries regarding an interview in La Crosse.

The Hughes special, running as the road section of the Milwaukee road's Olympian Flyer, went through the north side at 8:40. It did not pass through the south side.

HAVE FLED HERE

Cream City Police Warn the Local Authorities to Watch for Peter Pautsch

Police have no clue to the whereabouts of Peter Pautsch, Milwaukee murderer, who was thought in the Cream City to have fled here after slaying George Grossenheimer Monday night. Pictures of Pautsch were shown to all members of the department and they are on the watch for the man, but are inclined to doubt the Milwaukee theory that he made for La Crosse.

Pautsch escaped from Milwaukee, it is believed, on a freight train, after shooting Grossenheimer in a fight in which three shots were fired. After the row, Pautsch ran to the railroad yards and disappeared. The fight concerned a $4 board bill which Pautsch is said to have owed Grossenheimer.

REPORT TAKES WHEAT MARKET BY SURPRISE

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The government crop report issued at Washington Tuesday showing a wheat yield far below last year's mark, took even the bulls in Chicago's wheat market by surprise Tuesday afternoon. The report was released immediately after the market closed with a two-cent gain for wheat for the day.

Bernard Snow, grain expert for one of the largest brokerage houses, said the report bore out rumors of extensive crop damage by storm and black rust in the northwest.

BRANDEIS SELECTED TO HEAD COMMISSION TO CONFER WITH DE FACTOS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—President Wilson has selected Associate Justice Louis D. Brandeis to head the American commission which will confer with that appointed by General Carranza to settle Mexican border questions. It was authoritatively stated Wednesday.

Secretary of Interior Lane has been asked to serve also and has accepted. The name of the third man awaits acceptance of the president's request to have him serve.

In selecting Justice Brandeis the president was prompted, it is said, by confidence in the lawyer's ability as an investigator. Brandeis has been strongly urged also by Mexicans familiar with the situation. Brandeis will remain a member of the supreme court.

Ambassador Arredondo and Acting Secretary of State Polk conferred today regarding General Carranza's last note. Arredondo explained he was authorized to say the conference meant an acceptance of the American note of July 28.

IN VILLISTAS' ATTACK

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 9.—General Aguilar, commanding an escort of Carranzista troops and a number of soldiers and passengers, are reported killed in an attack by Villistas against a passenger train at Noria station on the Durango-Torreon line Tuesday. About half of the twenty Villistas in the band were killed by the troops in the fight, the Chihuahua City advices stated.

An unconfirmed report reaching American military men here was that Torreon had been occupied by Villistas.

Up-river City Has Epidemic of Infantile Paralysis in Which Four Deaths Have Resulted

WARNS EXCURSION CROWD

Health Commissioner's Caution Is Announced Today to the Outing on Steamer Hill

"Please say for me that it is inadvisable for La Crosse people to visit Winona, especially with children," said Dr. J. M. Furstman, head of the La Crosse Health department, Wednesday morning. "There is in Winona an epidemic of infantile paralysis, nine cases having appeared, of which four have resulted in death."

Dr. Furstman made arrangements to have his warning announced on the steamer G. W. Hill, which left Wednesday for Winona with an excursion under the joint auspices of the Presbyterian and Congregational churches.

At a meeting of the Winona Medical association last night, addressed by Dr. P. W. Green, of the Minnesota board of health, a resolution was adopted warning parents against exposing children, and calling for the closing of the public bath, picture houses, schools and churches to children.

The latest death victim, L. D. Belden, was an employee of the La Crosse Dredging company. Belden's case was peculiar. His lungs were paralyzed and he died within a few hours. Dr. W. P. Greene, state epidemiologist from St. Paul arrived in Winona to consult with Dr. D. B. Witthard, city health officer, and to investigate the two new cases that developed yesterday.

Dr. Greene announced that he would obtain a complete history of the death of Mr. Belden.

Mr. Belden was about 25 years old. Last Saturday he became slightly ill, but a doctor was not called until yesterday. The case developed rapidly during the night and terminated in death shortly before morning.

Mild Attack

Dr. Greene visited Bernadina Pate, the 20 months' old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Pate, today and pronounced her condition as indicating a mild attack of the disease. This afternoon he visited Deloras Revoir, 11 year old daughter of Rose Revoir.

Dr. Greene called the attention to the fact that two of the deaths here were young men over 21 years of age. The first death in St. Paul was over 30.

Funeral Arrangements Completed After Day's Telegraphing Locates Brother in the East

SIMPLE RITES AT HOME

Rev. John H. Klaus Will Officiate at the Services at Home of the Mother

Funeral services for Walter O. Hosely, prominent merchant who went to his death in the river Monday afternoon with Miss Rena Coles, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 from the home of his mother, Mrs. Dora Hosely, 519 Division street. Arrangements were completed Wednesday morning, after more than twenty-four hours of telegraphing had finally reached Matt Hosely, a brother.

Mr. Hosely was found at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., by a telegram which reached him late Tuesday, bringing his vacation to an abrupt end. He boarded a train for Chicago at once, where he called up his family upon his arrival this morning. Mr. Hosely is expected this evening.

Rev. J. H. Klaus, pastor of the First German Methodist church, will officiate at the services, which will be simple. There will be no church services. The body will be laid to rest in Oak Grove cemetery.

Members of the Elks and Knights of Pythias lodges, of which Mr. Hosely was a distinguished member, will provide an escort for the body. The entire membership of each organization will attend in a body, meeting at their lodge rooms at two o'clock.

The body of Miss Rena Coles, the other victim of the double tragedy, was taken to Chicago last night, where funeral services are to be held Thursday.

Mrs. Hosely, who was prostrated after witnessing the death of her husband and friend in the river passed a quiet and comparatively restful night, it was said today. Her condition is much improved.

BRITISH ADVANCE
GERMANS GET HOLD
IN FRENCH TRENCH

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The British further advanced their lines north of Pozieres Tuesday night in bombing attacks along the enemy's trenches. They took twenty-five prisoners. General Haig reported to the war office Wednesday afternoon.

No change occurred in the vicinity of Guillemont, where the British and French were on the offensive Monday.

The Germans displayed considerable activity at the Ypres salient Tuesday night. The attacks were with little effect, the enemy failing to enter British lines.

Germans Gain French

PARIS, Aug. 9.—North of the Somme the Germans constantly counter attacked throughout the night against new French positions, finally gaining a foothold in a single trench from which they were partly ejected, the war office reported Wednesday. The battle is continuing in this region.

The battle south of the Somme is extending to the region of Challes, where a violent bombardment is reported. On the sector the Germans occupied an advanced French trench but were thrown out by a bayonet attack.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Wheat soared to its highest mark since the war boom of early 1915 just before the close of the market Wednesday. September closed at $1.44½ a gain of 10½ since last night; December at $1.58½, a gain of 11½ since last night, and May at $1.53, a gain of 11¼.

In 1915 wheat at one time reached $1.67 a bushel. The grain pits were madhouses at the close today.

Offensive of Russ Troops and Italian Forces Greatest Efforts of Allies at the Present Time

BY ED L. KEEN

LONDON, Aug. 9.—A mighty triple offensive with several million men and thousands of guns engaged, is slowly squeezing in the armies of the central empires on every front. Fighting stubbornly and in many instances with rare bravery, the Austro-German-Turkish forces are giving ground in every theater of war save the Balkans, where recent skirmishes may herald the beginning of another great allied push.

In the east the czar's troops, extending the advantage reported in an early bulletin Tuesday have thrown back the Austro-Germans on a front of thirty miles, extending from Nadworna to Misinof. Nadworna, a railway city of 10,000, has been captured. The Russian center is now within a few hours' march of the important city of Stanislaus whose capture will materially increase the danger in which General von Bothmeyer's army now finds itself.

The most striking victory won by the Italians since the war began has partly opened the way to Trieste for the great objective of the Italian Isonzo campaign. The apparent ease with which the Italians took the fortified Goritz bridgehead, convinces military men here that the Austrians have been forced to strip their lines to the danger point to meet the Russian menace in Galicia.

On the western front the allies have won another slice of the German second line, advancing on a front of nearly four miles north of the Somme. German counter attacks caused the French to yield ground only slightly in this region Tuesday night.

Only on the Verdun front, where the Germans again reoccupied the Thiaumont work in heavy fighting last night, the Teutonic armies are still on the offensive.

In the far away Caucasus allied troops are again marching victoriously. Both the Russian and Turkish war offices report the beginning of a new Russian offensive in which the Turks admit they have been forced to yield some ground.

BROTHERHOODS TO ACCEPT MEDIATION
STRIKE POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Representatives of the railroad employes announced Wednesday afternoon they would accept the offer the United States board of mediation and conciliation to submit their demands to mediation, provided action is immediately taken.

Acceptance of mediation by the employes came as a big surprise. It had been officially stated by big brotherhood officers that they "would discuss the differences with the railroad managers but that a third party was unnecessary."

It is believed the personal plea of members of the United States board brought about acceptance by the men. It means at least postponement of the strike that would have called out 400,000 men and tied up 250,000 miles of railway on 225 railroads of the country.

It was believed by representatives of both sides that mediation sessions will start immediately, as demanded by the brotherhood.

Candidate in Rear Platform Talk Says a Revival of the American Spirit Is in Sight

BY PERCY ARNOLD

WINONA, Minn., Aug. 9.—Candidate Hughes had his first try-out as a rear platform campaigner in the presidential race Wednesday. It happened at 7:50 in the morning when the republican standard-bearer told a crowd of nearly a thousand people that he looked for a revival of the American spirit. The Minnesotans gave Hughes a rousing reception. As the train slowed up and came to a stop in the station the crowd told a crowd of nearly a thousand people that he looked for a revival of the American spirit. The Minnesotans gave Hughes a rousing reception. As the train slowed up and came to a stop in the station the crowd told a crowd of nearly a thousand people that he looked for a revival of the American spirit.

The crowd yelled its greeting. Then the governor spoke. Here is his first end of the train stump speech as a presidential candidate:

"Good morning. I am very glad to have the opportunity of saying good morning to you. The fact that you are here at this hour shows the deep interest taken in the work of this campaign. I have found this interest prevalent wherever I have gone and to me it is a very hopeful sign. It means that we want in the country a revival of the true American spirit. It means that as we look to the future we want to safeguard all the interests of this country by wise up-building policies. I represent here a reunited republican party ready to meet these exigencies as they arise. I look forward to an America tested as America has not been tested before when she has to stand in the competitive strain that will come when a new Europe issues from this war. And I desire that North and South, East and West, every part of this country shall be benefited by an administration that knows no more partisan politics for the purpose of paying political debts but an administration that is devoted solely to the up-building of this country and the conservation of its vast interests. I salute you."

Tawney Gets Mixed

When the governor concluded, former Representative Jim Tawney, whose home is in Winona, said he had been told by the candidate to tell the crowd that he was too tired to shake hands. Hughes smilingly interrupted.

"No," he interjected, "what I said was that my voice was a little tired but I would be delighted to shake hands with everybody here. I'm coming right down in the crowd now."

But at that moment the train started and the governor had to hurry back aboard after grasping only the hands of a few of those nearby.

Hughes' voice today was noticeably hoarse, due to the effort of speaking to the vast crowd Tuesday night in Chicago.

THIAUMONT AGAIN
RE-CAPTURED BY KAISER'S FORCES

PARIS, Aug. 9.—German troops again re-captured Thiaumont work northeast of Verdun in heavy fighting Tuesday night, the war office announced.

The French re-captured the position from the Germans Tuesday, after losing it early Tuesday morning. The position has changed hands eight times since the Verdun campaign began.

The French repulsed all other attacks on the Verdun front and made further progress in the village of Fleury.

The re-capture of Thiaumont work was accomplished after the Germans have suffered heavy losses in several unsuccessful attacks. The French are still clinging to the outskirts of the redoubt, which is being bombarded unceasingly by French artillery.

In the Vaux-Chapitre wood, in the same region, a German attack was repulsed.

Rome Sees Start of Offensive Which Will Send Italian Armies On to Trieste

ROME, Aug. 10.—"We captured Goritz this morning, taking 10,000 prisoners," said an official statement from the war office Wednesday afternoon.

BY ED L. KEEN

LONDON, Aug. 9.—The great Austrian stronghold of Goritz which for fourteen months has blocked an Italian invasion of Austria from the west, has fallen before the victorious Italian armies.

The information given the United Press was confirmed a few minutes later by the receipt of official dispatches from Rome.

The Italians are believed to have stormed the citadel city Tuesday night or early Wednesday, only a few hours after they had battered their way to victory at the Goritz bridgehead and had captured Monte San Michele, overlooking Goritz from the south.

Ten thousand Austrian prisoners were taken, according to reports reaching London.

News of the Italian stroke, the greatest single victory for the allies since the triple offensive against the central empires began, was received here an hour after official word came from Petrograd of another striking Russian victory.

The taking of Goritz, the greatest achievement for Italian arms since Italy declared war on Austria in May, 1915, opens the way for an Italian advance southward toward Trieste, one of the principal goals of the Italians.

Goritz is the point of convergence of important railways and the key to the whole plain opening up to the invasion of Austria from the west. The city of Goritz has a population of about thirty thousand and is the capital of a province.

By JOHN H. HEARLEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Aug. 9.—Two million men are battling fiercely along the Isonzo front in a great struggle, centering about Goritz.

With the Goritz bridgehead and surrounding heights strongly in Italian hands, Italian troops poured across the river for the assault upon Goritz itself, singing gaily as they advance under hot fire, their helmets decked with flowers.

The battle is spreading along the Isonzo. In the first two days of the great offensive more than 15,000 Austrian prisoners were captured. The Austrians resisted with the greatest stubbornness and suffered frightful losses.

Rome was swept with a tremendous wave of enthusiasm Wednesday as fresh dispatches from the front brought fragmentary details of the fighting around Goritz. The whole city was instantly beflagged when announcement of the capture of the Goritz bridgehead was made. A huge crowd gathered in Piazza Colonna and cheered the army, King Victor Emanuel and General Cadorna. Similar demonstrations occurred in the theaters and cafes.

Sees Greater Victory

In other Italian cities, Milan, Bologna, Leghorn and Florence, great crowds gathered in patriotic demonstrations that lasted all night. The general conviction is that the war office statement was most conservative and that Italy is on the brink of a great and decisive victory that will send Italian armies marching on Trieste.

The meter connected with the electric lights was also damaged. The shock of the bolt seemed to effect none of the family except one of the younger boys, who was somewhat stunned for a few moments. W. M. Wilcox was a caller at Necedah Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Sallie Hollishead returned to her home at Kilbourn Tuesday after

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from back-ache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. These famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

having spent a month here at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hollinshead.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Compton were Woneoc visitors the first of the week.

Mrs. R. P. Robertson and daughter Dorothy, visited relatives at Necedah the first of the week.

Mrs. G. M. Little entertained the "500 Club" at her home Tuesday evening.

The following gentlemen from here left Monday to attend a tennis tournament at Tomah, Black River Falls and Blair: Harry Dawes, Paul Thompson, Ralph Sharp, Ray Bullis and Rev. Prucia.

Miss Myrtle Gage is enjoying a two weeks' vacation from her duties as clerk at Peterson brothers and Larson's store.

Mr. John Wilson departed Tuesday for a visit at La Crosse and Prairie du Chien.

Mrs. Youlen Elwell and daughter Margaret, Mrs. R. W. Hoyt and daughter, Hazel, and Mrs. Glen Ramsey returned Monday night from a two weeks' outing at Clear Lake, Tomahawk.

Several members of lodge F and A. M., No. 103 of New Lisbon attended the laying of the cornerstone of the new Masonic temple at Necedah Tuesday evening.

Mr. Herbert Kallies has returned from Waukesha, where he has been receiving medical treatment the past two months.

Mrs. Fred Schiefelbein and daughter, Betty, and the Misses Ruby Smart and Doris Skeede and Will Runkel were Mauston visitors on Monday.

Yesterday's Temperatures
High, 85; low, 62; precipitation .0.

Forecast
For Wisconsin: Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday; probably showers north and west portions. Warmer tonight and in southeast portion Thursday. Cooler northwest portion Thursday.

For Minnesota: Showers tonight and Thursday. Warmer tonight in east and south portions. Somewhat cooler Thursday.

For Iowa: Generally fair and warmer tonight. Thursday partly cloudy; probably showers and cooler northwest portion.

Weather Conditions
The eastern low is moving off the north Atlantic coast and the weather is fair and cooler in the New England states. The high pressure area now extends from the upper lakes to the east gulf coast while the northwestern storm is drifting slowly eastward accompanied by showers and local thunderstorms and higher temperature. It is central this morning in northwestern North Dakota and adjacent Canadian territory.

The low will continue its slow easterly movement and will likely cause showers as far south as this section tonight and Thursday and somewhat higher temperature tonight.

RAID KILLS 200 SOLDIERS

THE HAGUE, Aug. 9.—Two hundred German soldiers were killed or injured in the recent allied air raid on Metz, capital of Lorraine, according to word received here Wednesday. The station and barracks were seriously damaged.

The German war office stated that "some damage" was done in the raid

The Searchlight

DOING FARM WORK AT NIGHT
Instead of trying to do all his work by daylight in conformance with the newest continental regulation, the progressive American farmer is beginning to have a large part of it done by night. Dynamos are being utilized on some of the great western farms which supply powerful electric light by means of which plowing, cultivating and harvesting can be done in the cool of the night instead of the heat of the day. The dynamo in use can light a large field. A tractor for instance is fitted with two powerful lights one in the front to show the ground to be gone over, and one in the rear that shows the furrows already plowed.

A KANSAS ESTIMATE OF "BOB" LA FOLLETTE

Joseph L. Bristow, former United States senator from Kansas, came into prominence many years ago when, as an officer of the postoffice department, he exposed an extensive system of frauds in that organization. Men in high places sought to stop him, to force a "whitewash", but young Bristow was firm in his purpose, and the service there rendered was later rewarded when the people of Kansas sent him to the senate. Today he is publisher of the Salina (Kansas) Journal, and a power in the state and in the nation.

The other day Editor Bristow published the following signed editorial in the "Journal":

In this issue is reproduced an editorial, from La Follette's Magazine, written by Senator La Follette.

It is interesting because of its frank statements of facts, and especially as an indication of the fine indication of Senator La Follette's character. Some twenty years ago he started concretely the progressive movement in the United States, and has never wavered under any circumstances or conditions from a stern and inflexible advocacy of the progressive policies.

He has gone through a larger share of ups and downs in the political evolutions of his time than is due to ordinary men. During all of these years, he has never abandoned the republican party. Inducements of a compelling character have been made to him to join various political movements and even to join the democratic party, but he has turned a deaf ear to them all.

This is not because of any narrow partisanship, but because he believed that such action on his part would weaken his usefulness in promoting the great work to which he was devoting his life.

During all this time he has firmly clung to his republican principles, yet at times, without hesitation, he has denounced the action of his own party when he felt it was wrong or unfaithful to the best interests of the people. He has not only refused to support, but has vigorously opposed candidates nominated by the party, if they were unworthy.

He has not been without ambition, has entertained high aspirations, but never permitted such ambition to deflect him in the slightest degree from steadfast adherence to the great reform principles which he believes in.

No man is more earnestly devoted to his friends that "Bob" La Follette. He loves them devotedly, yet he never hesitates to part company with, or to criticize them, if he believes that the cause of progress in our political and economic affairs demands such a course.

I have not always agreed with him on the details of legislation; but I am glad to say that our disagreements have been rare. It is a delight for me to reflect that on the great underlying principle of legislation we have always been in accord.

Reviewing the work of the last twenty years of all the great American progressive leaders, including Bryan and Roosevelt, for steadfastness of purpose, consistency of action and unswerving devotion to principles, regardless of party expediency, or effect upon his personal fortune, "Bob" La Follette stands today at the head of them all.

He will be a candidate for re-election in Wisconsin this year for the republican nomination will, without doubt, be given him. It ought to be tendered unanimously. In the recent presidential primary, he received 40,000 more votes for presidential preference in his state than was given any of the candidates for a delegate on the same ballot, and a larger vote than was given President Wilson in the democratic primary.

His real fight, probably, will be in the election where the conservative element of the republican party may undertake to defeat him, as they have in the past, but the people of Wisconsin, knowing him as they do, having unbounded confidence in his integrity and effectiveness as a legislator, will re-elect him.

Six years ago, if we remember correctly, his majority was approximately 100,000. We have great confidence in his success, but in this period of reaction, when under the guise of patriotic fervor special privilege is trying to rivet its control upon the institutions of the country, all men who believe in the progressive principles should take a special interest in La Follette's campaign and do their best in his behalf. We should take no chances, for his defeat this year would be the greatest misfortune that could come to the progressive cause.

That is what one of the leading statesmen, after years of close work with La Follette, thinks about our senior senator. Can't we honor the prophet in his own country?

OF INTEREST TO SMALL EMPLOYERS

That, "It's the little things that count", was never more true of anything than of the campaign of the Soldiers' Protective association to create a steady and dependable fund for the care of soldiers' families. Unfortunately, some two hundred employers each of whom employs from one to twenty-odd people, seem to have concluded that they are not employers in the intended sense, and that the small amount they would pay amounts to nothing.

Of course fifteen cents, or thirty cents, or even $3.00 per month doesn't "amount to much", but the aggregate of these little sums, thus far unpaid, amounts to something like $450 per month, which is just about the sum the association is short each month in meeting the demands upon it.

So much has been said upon this subject that more seems rather too much to have to say. What firm or individual that employs two people can not well afford to pay thirty cents per month? What concern or man who employs ten people can not afford to pay $1.50 per month?

What employer, no matter how many he hires, can afford
NOT to pay his share?

The men at the border are substitutes for the men at home.
They are there for the protection of every individual, every dollar of property and the security of every business establishment. It is no favor, no contribution that is asked, but the payment of compensation justly due for the protection of government and the safety of investment.

In order to recognize the justice and patriotism of employers who have risen to this obligation, a complete list of La Crosse employers will shortly be published, with an "X" after the name of those who have paid. Employers will be asked to run through the list to make sure they have not overlooked the payment of their pro rata. One hopes that by that time every name will have its "X".

THE INCENTIVE OF M'GOVERN

Francis E. McGovern is not seeking the office of governor with a great message for its people and a great program for their betterment. The governorship is an old story with him, so old one wonders he is unwilling to give somebody else a chance. He wants to be governor in order that he may "keep in the limelight" until the next senatorial election. He wants to eclipse La Follette as a leader, just as La Follette eclipsed Spooner. But there is this vital difference: Spooner was a standpat; La Follette is a progressive. In Spooner La Follette disposed of one who obstructed progressive government. In La Follette, McGovern fights for the overthrow of one who made progressive government possible. Who wants to loan McGovern the governorship as a training camp for a fight with Senator Hustung?

One Interpretation
A store in a certain district displays in one of its windows this notice:

"Football results received here."
"Into this haven one Saturday evening a man entered, supporting a young man whose figure testified to the fact that he had been engaged in some deadly encounter.

"Ye receive football results here, I see," said the former.
"Yes, we do," replied the clerk.
"Well, here's one from the football match; ye might keep him till he comes to himself."

Where Paris Didn't Dictate

Apropos of the amusing comments on academic costume that so often reveal popular ignorance of the symbolism of hoods and gowns is the following story told by a contemporary:

"A friend of mine," says the narrator, "is a curate in a local suburban parish. Some little time back he went up to Oxford to take his master of arts degree and the following Sunday appeared in the pulpit resplendent in his new master of arts hood.
A few nights later he was dining in the house of a prominent parishioner and was amazed to hear his hostess pleasantly remarked:

"Mr. X., that new hood of yours doesn't suit you at all! I can't imagine why you, with your complexion, chosed of all colors in the world, a myrtle green or an old gold would have suited you much better and would have been far more effective.
You men never know how to dress yourself."

Getting Back at Him

The young couple were dawdling over a late breakfast after a night at an ultra smart party.

"Was it I kissed in the conservatory last night?" hubby inquired.

She looked at him reminiscently:
"About what time was it?"

Not in the Ranks

An exhorter in a negro camp meeting in Alabama had just made a great speech. When he got through he went down among the congregation and asked each one to join the army of the Lord.

One of the congregation, when this question was put to him, replied:
"I've done jined."

"What'd you jine?" asked the exhorter.

"In de Baptist church."

"Why, chile," said the exhorter,
"you ain't in de army; yo's in de navy."—Sent in by Mrs. Ida Lyon, Spangle, Wash.

Wouldn't Do

"Why did the manager fire her?"
"Well, you know, he is strong for decorum on the stage. Prides himself on his long-skirted chorus."

"Well?"
"She came in late and tried to go on in street costume."

He who would enjoy the music of the band must keep up with the procession.

THE TRIBUNE'S DAILY TRAVELETTE

(By Niksab)

ROUEN

Rouen, the old capital of Normandy, whence William the Conqueror planned his wars against England, is a city which persists in keeping up to date through the centuries. It is a bustling modern town today in spite of its long and strenuous past.
You can buy the oldest of antiques and the most modern manufactures in Rouen, both strictly local products.

Like many American cities, Rouen makes its poorest impression from the railway stations. No matter which train you pass through on, if you were to take what you see through the carriage window as a fair sample of the old city, you would never alight and investigate. It is necessary to have faith in Rouen, to believe in more beautiful things around the corner, and as is often the case he who has faith is rewarded.

There are few places where the contrast between the mediaeval and the modern stands out more clearly than in this old-new city of France.
The broad and handsome boulevards, the brightly lighted shops, the bustle of the cafes are very much of the twentieth century; and the grim old houses, the time-blackened carven walls seem to look down on the paneled of modern life flowing past them with a dignified puritanical disapproval. Leading off from some broad new boulevard you often find one of the old-time narrow streets, just wide enough for foot traffic, that was laid out in the days when Rouen was a walled city, and the needs of the pedestrian or at most the horseman, were the only ones to be considered.

The traditional idol of Rouen is Joan of Arc. They have named a street and a square for her, the best of her statues are found here, and there is a museum given over to relics of her strange career. Here is the tower where the unfortunate maiden was tried and found guilty. Through these same streets she rode in her bright armor, and here she died at the stake.

PRUDENCE OF THE PARSONAGE

"Oh, I can't bear to be fresh and rosy when Carrie is sick!"

"It hurts—but you are willing to be hurt for Carol's sake? You will do it on her account. It will do her so much good. Now sit down and eat your soup, and I'll stay here a while and tell you all about her. I gave her the pinks you bought her —it was so sweet of you, too, Larkie. It must have taken every cent of your money, didn't it? I suppose you ordered them over the telephone, since you wouldn't leave the house. When I told Carol you got them for her, she took them in her hand and held them under the covers. Of course, they wilted right away, but I knew you would like Carrie to have them close to her.
—Oh, you must eat it all, Lark. It looks very good. I must take a little of it up to Carol—maybe she can eat some—And you will do your very best to be strong and bright and rosy—for Carol—won't you?"

"Yes, I will—I'll go and run across the field a few times before I go to bed. Yes, I'll try my very best." Then she looked up at the doctor, and added: "But I wouldn't do it for you, or anybody else, either."

But the doctor only smiled oddly, and went away upstairs again, pondering at the wisdom that God has placed in the hearts of women!

Dreary miserable days and nights followed after that. And Prudence, to whom Carol, even in delirium, clung with such wildness that they dare not deny her, grew weary-eyed and wan. But when the doctor, putting his hand on her shoulder, said:
"It's all right now, my dear. She'll soon be as well as ever"—then Prudence dropped limply to the floor, trembling weakly with the great happiness.

Good Methodist friends from all over Mount Mark came to the assistance of the parsonage family, and many gifts and delicacies and knick-knacks were sent in to tempt the appetite of the invalid, and the others as well.

"You all must tone up," said Mrs. Adams crossly, "you've all gone clear under. A body would think the whole family had been down with something!"

Carol's friends at the high school, and the members of the faculty also, took advantage of this opportunity to show their love for her. And Professor Duke sent clear to Burlington for a great basket of violets and lilies-of-the-valley. "For our little high-school song-bird," as he wrote on the card. And Carol dimpled with delight as she read it.

"Now you see for yourself, Prudence," she declared. "Isn't he a duck?"

When the little parsonage group, entire, gathered once more around the table in the "real dining-room," they were joyful indeed. It was a gala occasion! The very best china and silverware were brought out in Carol's honor. The supper was one that would have gratified the heart of a bishop, at the very least!

"Apple pie, with pure cream, Carol," said Lark ecstatically, for apple pie with pure cream was the favorite dessert of the sweet-toothed twins. And Lark added earnestly,
"And I don't seem to be very hungry tonight, Carol—I don't want any pie. You shall have my piece, too!"

"I said I felt it in my bones, you remember," said Prudence, smiling at Carol, "but my mental compass indicated Connie when it should have pointed to Carol! And I do hope, Connie dear, that this will be a lesson to you, and impress upon you that you must always change your shoes and stockings when your feet are wet!"

And for the first time in many days, clear, happy-hearted laughter rang out in the parsonage.

CHAPTER IX Practising Economy

It was a dull dreary day early in December. Prudence and Fairy were sewing in the bay window of the sitting-room.

"We must be sure to have all the scraps out of the way before Connie gets home," said Prudence, carefully fitting together pieces of a dark, warm furry material. "It has been long since father wore this coat.
I am sure she will not recognize it."

"But she will ask where we got it, and what shall we say?"

"We must tell her it is goods we have had in the house for a long time. That is true. And I made this fudge on purpose to distract her attention. If she begins to ask questions, we must urge her to have more candy. Poor child!" she added very sympathetically. "Her heart is just set on a brand-new coat. I know she will be bitterly disappointed. If the members would just pay up we could get her one. November and December are such bad months for parsonage people. Coal to buy, feed for the cow and the horse and the chickens, and Carol's sickness, and Larkie's teeth!" Of course, those last are not regular winter expenses, but they took a lot of money this year. Every one is getting ready for Christmas now, and forgets that parsonage people need Christmas money, too. November and December are always my bitter months. Fairy—bitter months!"

Fairy took a pin from her mouth.
"The velvet collar and cuffs will brighten it up a good bit. It's really a pretty material. I have honestly been ashamed of Connie the last few Sundays. It was so cold, and she wore only that little thin

NEWS NOTES MOVIELAND

67 DAISY DEAN

Gail Kane, who recently made her second appearance on the screen in "Paying the Price," is a product of the legitimate stage, where she attained a high degree of popularity before entering the silent drama. To go into pictures she gave up a number of important theatrical engagements. She is only twenty-four.

Miss Kane created the greatest impression in her dramatic career in George M. Cohan's comedy, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," in which she had one of the most important roles. The big success she made in this play induced Mr. Cohan to cast her for a leading part in "The Miracle Man," where she again scored as an actress of great versatility.

Miss Kane's next picture, titled
"The Other Sister," in which she appears in a dual role, will be released early next month.

Murder Will Out; Neva is a Lawyer

Neva Gerber, of Universal, was waiting to "go on a set" recently, standing near a stage dressed to represent a court room. A director was rehearsing an actor who was playing a judge, and part of the "business" consisted of the judge consulting a law book in a "close-up." Miss Gerber watched the rehearsal, and when the opportunity arose she spoke to the director: "That lawbook isn't the right one for the judge to use. This is a criminal trial and that book contains the civil code. Lawyers who see the picture might notice it." Sure enough, it was found that Miss Gerber was correct and the change was made to obtain perfect "atmosphere." Later, when asked how she knew the difference, she divulged for the first time that she is an honest-to-gosh lawyer.

Wanted, A Tomcat In Its Right Mind

The Mabel Normand company, now engaged in producing its first picture, has met with one difficulty after another, the most recent being the loss of an important prop, a large tomcat while on location on the desert thirty miles from nowhere. The cat suddenly became insane while a scene was being made with Miss Normand holding it. She was scratched and bitten before members of the company could interfere and kill the summer jacket. She must have been half frozen.

"Oh, I had her dressed warmly underneath, very warmly indeed," declared Prudence. "But no matter how warm you are underneath, you look cold if you aren't visibly prepared for winter weather. It's a fortunate thing the real cold weather was so slow in coming. I kept hoping enough money would come in to buy her a coat for once in her life."

"She has been looking forward to one long enough," put in Fairy.
"This will be a bitter blow to her.
And yet it is not such a bad-looking coat, after all." And she quickly ran up a seam on the machine.

"Here comes Connie!" Prudence hastily swept a pile of scraps out of sight, and turned to greet her little sister with a cheery smile.

"Come on in, Connie," she cried, with a brightness she did not feel.
"Fairy and I are making you a new coat. Isn't it pretty? And so warm!
See the nice velvet collar and cuffs.
We want to fit it on you right away, dear."

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

When Mixed with Sulphur
It Brings Back Its Beautiful
Lustre at once.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhance its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Healthy Skin
DEPENDS ON KIDNEYS

The skin and the intestines, which work together with the kidneys to throw out the poisons of the body, do a part of the work, but a clean body and a healthy one depends on the kidneys. If the kidneys are clogged with toxic poisons you suffer from stiffness in the knees in the morning on arising, your joints seem "rusty", you may have rheumatic pains, pain in the back, stiff neck, headaches, sometimes swollen feet, or neuralgic pains—all due to the uric acid or toxic poisons in the blood. This is the time to go to the nearest drug store and simply obtain a 50c. package of "Anuric," the discovery of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y. Then drink a cup of hot water before meals, with an "Anuric Tablet," and notice the gratifying results.

Often, however, these measures need supplementing by proper medication. The system lacks sufficient resistance to overcome the attack, and something must be done to assist in upbuilding the patient's strength.

"When four months old my boy suffered with blisters and a kind of scaly skin on his head. I got some salve and he didn't seem to improve but got worse and his ears, neck, and face were affected. He scratched day and night the itching was so intense, and we had to keep his hands pinned the whole time. The skin was sore and inflamed, and he didn't have a hair on his head. It was just a cap of sore eruptions and his face was terribly disfigured.

"He got so bad we had to keep a mask on his face. The trouble lasted for months, when a lady told my husband about Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and we got them. THE HASKIN LETTER

PRESERVING THE INDIAN

By Frederic J. Haskin

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—For some years past the importance and popularity of the American Indian have increased almost as fast as his numbers have dwindled. His remains in the shape of skeletons and broken pottery have been assiduously collected and studied. Learned men have journeyed long distances to gather the stories of the tribes from the lips of the few survivors. Indian poetry has been translated and set to music and sung. Indian art has been studied, praised and imitated. In a word, now that they have for the most part either died or lost their identity by intermarriage the Indians are famous.

Fame in America always leads to Broadway, and at Broadway the American Indian has now arrived. His remains are going to be housed in a building at 15th street that will cost a quarter of a million dollars. It will be called the Museum of the American Indian. The foundation, and will be the first museum in the world devoted exclusively to the collection and study of the artifacts of the American aborigines. The museum has already been organized, and is at present occupying several floors of a business building on East Thirty-third street, where its distinguished scientific staff is now struggling with a mass of interesting material which is being sent in by expeditions in South America, the West Indies and Arkansas. For this is a very up-to-date, active sort of a museum. It is backed by a number of New York's best known millionaires, including James B. Ford, Minor C. Keith and Archer Huntington. It is going after the antiquities in the most modern manner.

Whatever else we may have done to poor Lo we have not neglected him. While he lived we equipped elaborate expeditions to hunt him down and kill him, and now that he is dead we spend millions fitting out still more elaborate expeditions to dig up and preserve his remains.

The basis of this new museum is the remarkable collection of George G. Heye. Mr. Heye is a man of great wealth, who shares the collecting instinct which seems to be one of the common characteristics of the American millionaire. When a young man Mr. Heye went to Arizona, and saw there the quaint towns of the Pueblo tribes, the old adobe missions of the Spanish padres, the herds and herds of the nomad Navajos. The romance and picturesque quality of the southwest which is an unspoiled bit of the long ago, inspired the young man. He determined to devote his life and wealth to the study of pre-Columbian America. He has sent over thirty expeditions to all parts of North and South America and the West Indies. His collection contains about 400,000 specimens, and is worth over half a million. It has never before been accessible either to the public or to scientists. It is said to include some works in marble and gold from South America which show that the ancient civilizations of that continent were not far behind those of Europe in some of their arts.

This collection is now to be laid before the public and the scientific world, while a competent staff will work with every facility to increase and perfect it. A special feature of the new museum will be a study room where scientists will be given special opportunities for the examination of the specimens.

This up-to-date institution is not going to confine its activities to the study of the dead Indian. It is keenly aware that the Indian is still with us. True he has been modified by civilization and intermarriage; but he is still an Indian at heart, generally a pagan, and the lore and story of his people are safely preserved in the wonderful memory which belongs to all races that have not invented the written word. So the live Indian will be the object of much attention from this new museum.

Take the Iroquois, or Five Nations, who lived in New York before the Irish and the Jews arrived. They are popularly supposed to have disappeared. It is not so. They have merely been overshadowed. In its palmy days, the Iroquois confederacy could put ten thousand warriors in the field. If they had to, the Iroquois could very nearly do it today. True, the warriors would not all be pureblooded Indians. Neither would they be able to respond with the old time alacrity. Some of them would have to desert important business positions, others political jobs; many would leave their fertile farms with reluctance, while quite a few would be compelled to jump theatrical contracts. Nevertheless there are nearly as many persons of Iroquois blood now as there ever were. The bulk of them are living on their reservations in New York state, there are usually thirty or forty of them in New York city—mostly theatrical braves. Immediately after the revolution a number of them moved to Canada, because they had fought on the British side. A large number of these are fighting on the British side right now. Whole companies of Iroquois have gone from Canada to serve in the European war.

A member of the scientific staff of the Heye Museum was recently visiting the Menominee Indians in Wisconsin, and was amazed at the number of veterans of the civil war he found among them. There is one chapter of the Grand Army of the Republic which has a membership almost exclusively Indian, and these old soldiers were able to tell most interesting stories of the war from their own peculiar point of view. One of them, with his brother, took part in Sherman's march to the sea. He related that in one engagement the two of them gained the victory for the union. The confederates were advancing in overwhelming force. The two Indians realized that nothing could save the day but divine intercession, so they uttered a prayer to the Thunder Birds. Forthwith a terrific thunderstorm came up, drenching the confederates and wetting their powder, while the union forces remained dry and victorious. Historical research shows that there was such a battle; and that it was decided by a shower of rain; but the books make no mention of the Thunder Birds.

Some of these Indians did invaluable service as scouts and spies in the civil war. One of them still tells the story of how he escaped after he had been captured by a small detachment of confederate soldiers. He had a fine horse, which had been used for fox hunting, and was a noted jumper. The confederates made him put his hands in the air and ride in front of them. Presently they went down a road with a high fence on either side. At this point the Indian had a most peculiar seizure. He began to squirm and twist and wriggle in his saddle. The confederate officer asked him what was the matter. He explained that some kind of a bug had bitten him right in the middle of the back, and he was crazy with the desire to scratch. His contortions were so expressive that the officer began to feel itchy himself. Finally he told the Indian, who had been disarmed, to scratch and he done with it. The Indian had a gun cleverly concealed in his sleeve. He carefully scratched around to this, drew it, shot the officer's mount, jumped his own over the fence, and escaped because there was no other horse in the detachment that could follow.

In addition to studying the Indians that are still with us, the scientists are making a special study of material near home. Dr. Alanson Skinner of the scientific staff, formerly assistant curator of the Museum of Natural History, has just returned from an exploration of the Susquehanna River Valley. This was a most unusual exploring expedition in that it generally camped on farms or in the suburbs of cities. Nevertheless, interesting remains were discovered of a little-known and remarkable tribe of Indians—the Andastes of Conestogas. These Indians lived along the Susquehanna in the days before the famous Iroquois confederacy reached its greatest strength. About the only white man who ever saw much of them alive was Captain John Smith, who came over about three hundred years ago.

He says that these Andastes were the finest Indians he ever saw. They were of immense stature; and it has been estimated that they stood nearly six and a half feet in height. Their bearing was very polite and friendly. They were great hunters, as shown by the fact that they dressed themselves in the skins of bears and wolves, which are not easy to kill without a gun. One of their favorite sports was killing bears with clubs in hand-to-hand fights. Captain Smith was especially interested in their great stone tobacco pipes, which he said were nearly a yard long, and heavy enough to beat out a man's brains with.

This tribe perished because it was too proud to admit it was beaten. The Andaste warriors had a way of preferring death to surrender, which was very heroic, but hard on the tribe as a whole. They whipped the Iroquois and they whipped the whites. Then the Iroquois and the whites combined against them. Most of them were killed and the few survivors absorbed by other tribes.

Mr. Skinner's expedition found a burial ground of this tribe near Athens, Pennsylvania. A number of their great tobacco pipes, bits of their pottery and other interesting remains were unearthed.

The average modern American thinks of the Indians only as a band of savages who tried to murder his grandfather. He does not think of the long centuries before Columbus came when these first Americans possessed the land in peace and worked at the problems of existence and struggled toward better ways of living, just as we are doing today. In Peru, in Mexico and in New York there were then young civilizations of great promise. There were also in America naked savages making the first crude experiments with stone and fire, and all intermediate stages of development were represented.

The story of pre-Columbian America is that of a man making the crude beginnings of civilization. It is the first chapter of our own story, and therefore immensely significant and interesting. These scientists are striving to put it together and read it, bit by bit, from the crumbled remains of cities and peoples that were.

"THE FEMALE OF THE SPECIES IS DEADLIER THAN MALE" — KIPLING

When a woman fights she can be more savage and a great deal more dangerous than a man. Howard Davies who plays the "villain" opposite Edna Goodrich, the star, in "The Making of Maddalena" knows this to his sorrow.

As "Maddalena", this Morosco star is forced to battle with the big drunken ruffian and the way in which Miss Goodrich goes for this player is an eye-opening revelation of what strength a normal woman may possess. As a display of female fighting spirit it is magnificent. These players did not come from the ordeal without injury for Miss Goodrich sustained a severe bruising and Davies carried the scars of the conflict for weeks.

The desperate realism of the scene is one source of the strong dramatic vitality of this superb Morosco-Paramount production that is the attraction at the Bijou theater on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Betz Not Suicide

Through facts which have been brought to light since his untimely end, relatives of Gustave Betz, 52, 230 South Twenty-third street, are now of the belief that Betz did not end his life, but that he died from acute alcoholism, caused when he drank a quantity of alcohol, which he was not used to. Betz is said to have been drinking on the afternoon he died. He is said not to have been a heavy drinker.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Voves, who died on Monday, will be held Thursday afternoon. It is announced, instead of Wednesday, as was at first published.

TRIANGLE WAR FILM IS HEADED BY THOMPSON

"The Eye of the Night" with Wm. Thompson, the veteran American character actor, will be seen on the Majestic screen the four days beginning Thursday. The picture is in the Triangle program presented by Thomas H. Ince.

In this production Thompson plays the part of an aged lighthouse keeper in a small English village. The story deals with a slavey's misdoing, her struggle for existence among the narrow minded bigots in the town and her ultimate discovery that the old keeper of the light—the only mortal who has forgiven her sin and received her into his care—is her father.

ALLEGED SPOILS ACTIVITIES ROILS G. O. P. CANDIDATE

Hughes May Reiterate Detroit Charge Administration Fights Civil Service in Big Federal Bureaus

By PERRY ARNOLD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 9.—His voice hoarse and frayed from the two days' speaking and with twenty-five strenuous campaigning days ahead of him on his transcontinental speaking tour, Republican Nominee Hughes on Wednesday brought to the Twin Cities his gospel of republicanism.
He refused flatly to comment on Washington press dispatches stating that democratic leaders had demanded from him a retraction of charges made in his Detroit speech that the democrats had instituted the spoils system and in at least two cases had replaced scientific executive heads of big government bureaus with mere political henchmen utterly without qualification for the places.
It could not even be learned whether or not the nominee had received the telegrams sent from Washington demanding a withdrawal of the charges.
Hughes will very probably make answer to the demands for a withdrawal of the charges in his speech here tonight. He may go further into the charge which he has lodged against the administration of blanket attempt to restore the spoils system and do away with the civil service in the government. He has already charged leaders to take at least 30-000 jobs out of the civil service. One of the main points of attack against the democratic party which the republican candidates has so far dwelt upon is alleged prostration of the diplomatic and consular service in an effort to find "deserving democrats." This is the way the candidate "conserved" his energies today.

Strenuous Day Arose about 7 a. m., after having gone to bed at 11 o'clock, thoroughly tired out following a big speech in the huge Coliseum at Chicago.
Breakfasted at 7:30 with Mrs.
Hughes.
Made a "good morning" speech to a crowd of 800 or so at Winona, Minn., at 7:50 a. m.
Shook hands with a crowd at Wabasha, Minn., at 8:45 a. m.
Shook hands with crowds at Lake City (9:30), Red Wing (10:05), and Hastings (10:40) and arrived in St.
Paul at a little before noon.
It was formerly planned to hold night meetings in both St. Paul and Minneapolis, but owing to the candidate's hoarseness, the schedule was rearranged calling for Hughes to motor over to Minneapolis early in the afternoon and deliver a brief outing of doors speech returning to St. Paul in time for a big night campaign argument.

Likes Use of First Name Incidentally Hughes achieved the proud distinction today of being greeted by his first name. Some one at Red Wing promoted him to the intimate relationship class, by yelling, "Hello, Charley." The man who used to look grave and dignified in his robes as a justice of the supreme court of the United States grinned and looked more pleased at the greeting than if it had been the conferring of some new college degree on him.

TEXAS RANGERS AFTER RECRUIT IN LOCAL SOLDIER

Captain of Famous Border Vigilance Organization Seeks to Enlist Howard Morris

OFFICERS GIVE HIM UP
Funston and Captain Fowler Agree to Let Boy Go But His Father Withholds Decision

CAMP WILSON, Texas, Aug. 9.— A La Crosse boy is wanted for the Texas Rangers. His name is Howard Morris. He is a son of former Lieutenant Governor Tom Morris.
General Funston has given his consent. Captain Fowler is ready to give him up. But thus far Mr. Morris has not decided to permit Howard to take the offer.

Captain A. W. McDonough, active leader of the Rangers, wants Morris.
He met the young man here, and believes he has the qualities to make a good ranger. A ranger is a detective as well as a good rider and crack shot. He must be a "close mouthed" talk, one who thinks, and doesn't man. Captain McDonough says you can teach a man to ride and shoot, but you can't teach every man to think, or the value of silence.

Captain McDonough put the matter squarely up to Mr. Morris. "However, said Mr. Morris. "I doubt the wisdom of his tying himself up for a term of years to the hard life of the ranger, if there is a chance for him shortly to return to civil life."

Mr. Morris said that the matter is not settled. Since leaving La Crosse, Howard has been transferred from the ranks to the Third Regiment band. Formerly he was a member of the State Normal band.

AUTO POLO TEAMS PLAY GAMES AT PRAIRIE DU CHIEN

Hankinson's American and English Aggregations Engage in Matches; Rattlesnake Is Alive After Thought Dead

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis.— (Special.)—Hankinson's American and English auto polo teams played a game in this city at the ball park Sunday afternoon which resulted in a victory for the American team, score 7 to 6. A game was to be played Monday but on account of the extreme warm weather the game was cancelled.

Local and Personal
Henry Otto and wife attended the Wisconsin Bankers' convention held at Madison Tuesday and Wednesday.

Rattlesnake "Fox"
When William Martin was on his way to a neighboring town he encountered a large rattlesnake, killed it as he supposed and threw it in the back of his buggy.
Upon arriving home he found it as much alive as ever. The reptile had only feigned death. Mrs. Edwin Hale of Readstown, with two dogs, made an attack on a rattlesnake. The two dogs were bitten and died, but Mrs. Hale, armed with a club and in her bare feet, killed the reptile. In the village of Ferryville rattlesnakes are very thick. Three were killed in one day by different people. One snake had fifteen rattles. The extreme dry weather drove them down the hills to the river banks.

Sterile Taylor, cashier of the People's bank, attended the meeting on Wednesday.

was in the city Sunday and Monday and departed Tuesday for Waukon, Iowa, where he will be associated in the hotel business with his father.
Geo. Kunzman of Mitchell, S. D.,

FIGHT IN WESTERN CIRCLES HEALED HUGHES BELIEVES

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Charles Evans Hughes left Chicago Tuesday night for St. Paul satisfied that he had won the support of an audience which packed the Chicago Coliseum to overflowing Tuesday night.

Alvin Hart, Hughes' western campaign manager, said that Chicago's welcome to the candidate meant that western republican factions had abandoned their differences and were getting back of Hughes as a unit.

In the same hall where he was nominated for president by the republican convention two months ago, Hughes told the audience that he would do if elected president. He made a sweeping attack upon democratic waste and the pork barrel.
"We won't have any more 'kiss me and I'll kiss you' appropriations from congress if I can help it," he said.

Twelve thousand heard the speech.
Two addresses, one in St. Paul and the other in Minneapolis were on the candidate's program for Wednesday.

BADGER BRIGADE ENDS LONG HIKE WITHOUT A LOSS

Leon Springs, passed the Wisconsin troops on the road. As the Badgers came into sight, the band of the "fighting Seventh" infantry of Chicago struck up "On Wisconsin." A cheer went up from the Wisconsin soldiers as they marched past the Illinois men who stood at attention on the roadside, giving them the right of way. The First and Second Illinois infantry bands caught up the air of "On Wisconsin" as the Badgers passed them.

Co. M on Guard

Company M had its first taste of

Free Press Sees Snakes

The Milwaukee Free Press, in which many sensational stories, later denied, have been printed concerning the militia in Texas, prints the following concerning the Leon Springs hike:

"LEON SPRINGS, Texas, (By Courier to San Antonio), Aug. 8.— Numbers of Wisconsin brigade soldiers are lying sleepless on their straw sacks tonight; some of the wide-eyed ones are burning midnight oil and watching the ground, for the Badger militiamen are encamped in the earth's metropolis of tarantulas, rattlesnakes and other noxious 'contraptions.'"

"Help, I'm Stung!"
"Little 'pup' tents give easy access to creeping things and well the men realize it. Taps were still echoing through the tents range when scurrying in the tents began to be heard.
A tickling straw meant that a deadly scorpion had stung to its deepest chills into prone troopers, who were sure a rattler stalked the dark and at that very moment was wriggling toward them. Excitement went rather high before the majority of the men lost their fears in sleep. But some didn't sleep."

SPARTAN WRITES JOYS AND SORROWS OF TEXAS TROOPS

One Sparta Boy Turns Barber, Another Has the Cramps, But Entire Third Regiment Is Great on Hiking

SPARTA, Wis.—(Special.)—In a letter received here today from Andrew A. Kleppen at Fort Sam Housten, Texas, he tells about a few of the Company L men.

"Sam McCance was in the hospital suffering from cramps."
"Roy McOmber is busy as a barber."

"Company L is on guard."
"C. V. Fitch is great on the bunk fatigue."

"Bugler Balch has been transferred to the band."
"All the men now sleep on cots, and the new screened-in kitchens are in course of construction."

"This country is not so bad, no sand, but very hard clay, and plenty of flies."
"As soon as the Illinois troops get back, the Third regiment will take a hike to Leon Springs. In the practice marches we have shown up as fit as the best of the regulars."

W. C. T. U.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the home of Mrs. Bert Brown, Wednesday, August 9th. There will be election of officers and reports of superintendents. A picnic supper will be served to which the husbands of the members are invited.

Prohibition County Ticket

Sparta is well represented on the county ticket, which the Prohibition conference have given out.
Sheriff—W. F. Parsons, Town of Sparta.
County clerk—C. F. Hutson, City of Sparta.

Clerk of Court—L. E. Van Loon, Town of LaGrange.
Register of Deeds—J. E. Knight, Leon.

County Treasurer—W. H. Shattuck, Sparta.
Member of Assembly—C. H. Shattuck, City of Sparta.

Real Estate Changes

Mrs. Leonard Ritter has purchased the Frank Flock house on West Main street. The Ritter place of six and three-quarter acres, has been sold to Frank Burgeum of St.
Mary's Ridge. Mrs. John A. Sholtz has sold her residence, 209 Monroe street, to Mr. A. T. Root.

Suit for Wages

Attorney Z. S. Rice of Sparta recently held court for County Judge R. W. Richards in Tomah and took evidence in a case brought by William Remer against Louis Weimer to recover for services as a farm laborer. Mr. Weimer's defense was that the plaintiff was merely working for his board.

Naylor and McCaul of Tomah were attorneys for Remer, while Donovan and Gleiss appeared for the defendant. The matter was held open for argument and decision later in Sparta.

Former Sparta

Professor Charles J. Potter, who was superintendent of writing in the city schools of Kirkwood, Mo., last year, has been selected for the same position in the public schools of Hammond, Ind. Prof. Potter is an accomplished penman and a good teacher of penmanship. He is a native Sparta man, reared here and educated in the public schools of the city and will be remembered by many.
He married a Sparta girl, Miss Hannah Davis.

Local and Personal

Paul O. Austin went to Tomah in the interests of the Palmer and Austin store. From there he went on a ten days' trip to Chicago, Elgin, Milwaukee and Lake Geneva.

W. A. Jones and family have returned from a trip in the east, where they visited New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and other points of interest in New York and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Enckhausen and family drove to Tomah Thursday and spent the day with friends.

Mrs. P. B. Poole went to Minneapolis Friday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Matt Kemp.

The Primary department of the Methodist Sunday school will have a picnic in Newton's Grove Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Roy Guy, who has been in poor health for several months, has gone to Rochester, for an examination by the Mayo brothers.

Mrs. William Schaller of Minneapolis, has been visiting his mother and friends in the city.

MYRICK PARK IS OVERFLOWED WITH GROCERS' PICNIC

Upward of 500 Provision Dealers with Friends and Families Attend Big Outing

MURRAY AND "TIM" BUSY
Taggart at His Best in Direction of Twenty-eight Athletic Contests
Schedule

Five hundred La Crosse grocers, their families and friends, moved to Myrick park on Wednesday for the seventeenth annual picnic of the La Crosse Retail Grocers' association.
The majority of the picnicers began arriving at about 11 o'clock, and the fun commenced when North and South side grocers' clerks lined up for the championship baseball match, always the feature of the provision men's outing.

Probably the most conspicuous personages at the park were Harry Taggart and James B. Murray, leading lights of the association. Murray was scheduled to have charge of the "finance committee" but he often sneaked into the coffee-and-sandwich pavilion and dished out eatables with his usual zest. It was hard to pin him down to a single committee or spot. One minute he was closely observing the Municipal band, one of the leading attractions of the day, and the next he was on the side-lines of the baseball diamond, "rooting" with a will.

"Tim Toolin" (Harry Taggart) was everywhere in evidence. He seemed to be at the zenith of his glory when superintending the twenty-eight athletic and fun events of the day. There were races for all classes and sorts of people. One of the chief events was a race for fat men. Mirth was at its upmost when a half score of grocers' wives drove nails into a board for a prize of a sack of flour. The boys and girls were in their glory in various sorts of races.

A tug of war featured the afternoon program.

GORDON AGAIN IS PARTLY IDENTIFIED AS A DESPERADO

Two Local Men Think He Is the Man Who Held Them Up at Aberdeen in July

Is Otto Gordon, University of California fraternity man, I. W. W. member and gunman, a desperate character, of is he the victim of unfortunate resemblance? A. D. Garrow, Milwaukee road detective, said on Tuesday he believed Gordon to be the notorious Robert Chester, wanted for shooting an officer in Rochelle.
Today Fred Schwerteger, 22, 917
Green Bay street, and Ben Balzer, 22, 1119 South Fourteenth street, think that Gordon is a hold-up artist who robbed them at Aberdeen, S.
D., July 30.

Although not positive, the two men believe that Gordon is the man who shoved a gun in their faces and removed their watches and $3 in cash.
Gordon and three other I. W. W.'s, including Howard Burgess, who attempted to kill Detective Daniel Deneen when arrested, were arraigned in county court for assault with intent to kill. They were bound over to circuit court, with the exception of John May, who was given thirty days as a vagrant.

Harry Jones, who slid the gun to Burgess with which he tried to shoot Deeneen, arrived at a final decision regarding his name today. Previously he has said his name was Jackson, Johnson and Olson. He has now decided to stick to Jones.

NEW LONDON IS RUMORED PORT OF THE BREMEN

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 9.— New London was the center of rumors that radiated from several New England coast reports today, regarding the German submarine Bremen, sister ship of the Deutschland.
Quantities of nickel and rubber said to have been received here and the watery peregrinations of a mysterious launch off shore here, added fuel to the flame of reports here that the Bremen soon will dock at this point.

PARALYSIS CLAIMS SUN PRAIRIE CHILD

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 9.—Infantile paralysis has claimed its first victim in Dane county. The six months old infant of Mr. and Mrs.
Alfred Nordness of Sun Prairie succumbed to the disease Tuesday.
Four new cases of infantile paralysis were reported to the state health department Tuesday besides the Sun-Prairie case, one from De Pere and three from Green Bay, making a total of thirty-five cases to date in Wisconsin.

MINE AND TWELVE PERSONS ARE DEAD

MICHEL, B. C., Aug. 9.—Twelve men are known dead and all mines here are closed down, following an explosion in mine No. 3 here Wednesday. Lightning struck signal wires and carrying the current down to the mines, ignited dust or gas, starting the explosion.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS SAYS AUTHORITY

Glass of hot water before breakfast daily keeps the doctor away.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, and stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.
The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

GREAT WESTERN BUILDER DEAD

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 9.—A. B.
Stickney, founder of the Chicago Great Western railroad and interested in several other northwest railroads, died at his home Wednesday.
Stickney built several of the lines that were later consolidated as branches of trunk lines. Stickney's son, Samuel C. Stickney, assistant general manager of the Erie lines, was rushing here Wednesday. Chas.
A. Stickney, Chicago, the decedent's son, arrived Tuesday.

FEW NAMES TAKEN FROM BLACKLIST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Two or three American names have been removed from the British black-list since America protested, the state department announced Wednesday afternoon. This removal was accomplished by unofficial representations showing the damage that would be done through cancellation of unfulfilled contracts.

DAUGHTER OF FORMER RESIDENT IS DEAD

Word has been received by relatives here of the death of Myrtle Isabelle, 3 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Wartinbee, former La Crosse residents, at Eagle River, Wis., where the Wartinbees' family was camping. The home of the family is in Clintonville, Wis.
The body will be brought to La Crosse early tomorrow and will be taken to the home of F. D. Wartin-bee, Sr., 1444 Wood street. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

For quite a time before she became engaged to Jack Abbott, Olive Alkinson had displayed a cordial liking for Bert Overton. But after she had given her word to Jack, Bert had gradually been forgotten, until, shortly after her marriage, his name was little more than a memory. But Jack Abbott nursed a deep resentment toward the man he had defeated in the race for Olive's hand. "I never liked him and I never will," he said. "I hope that we shall never see him again."

"There is really no need to worry," Mrs. Jack answered placidly. "Bert has gone into business in Chicago and doesn't expect to come east for years."

After that the other man's name was not mentioned in the Abbott household. Mr. and Mrs. Jack lived in blissful peace. Jack came home from business every evening and sat with his wife on the spacious porch of their suburban home; occasionally they attended a dance at the Country club and once or twice a month they spent an evening in New York, where dinner was followed by a visit to their favorite play. Not a cloud marred the marital horizon.

But one afternoon in early summer Mr. Jack reached home at about three o'clock. He had hoped to find Olive ready and willing for a set or two of tennis before supper, but he was doomed to disappointment. No Olive awaited him.

"Did Mrs. Abbott say where she was going?" he asked the maid.

"Yes, sir," the girl answered. "She's gone to the city and will not be back until this evening. She told me to tell you that you had better eat supper alone."

Mr. Jack frowned. Tennis seemed suddenly to have lost its charm, so he wandered into the library in search of a book with which to while away the time. On the open desk in the corner he saw a letter addressed to his wife. The handwriting looked unfamiliar, and he absent-mindedly picked up the envelope. Moved by a sudden impulse, he slipped out the single sheet of paper it contained and glanced over its contents.

lips forming in a straight, thin line. He read the letter carefully, from beginning to end, an expression of wonder on his clean-cut face. Laying the envelope on the table, he drew forth his pipe, lighted it and puffed vigorously. Then he called the maid again.

"Did Mrs. Abbott say what she was going to do in the city?" he asked.

"No, sir; she just said that she was going to meet a friend and would not be home until late."

"All right, Annie. That will do." When the maid had left the room, he picked up the letter again.

"Dear Olive," he read. "I shall be in New York Wednesday for a day's visit. Then I must hurry back to Chicago. But before I go, I simply must see you. Will you meet me at Manley's at 4 o'clock? We can have a little supper for two and talk over old times. Hurriedly yours, Bert."

For a long time Mr. Jack Abbott gazed at the writing before him. It seemed hard to believe that his wife would disregard his wishes; would accept an invitation from a man whom she knew he did not approve of. But she had done it. The letter and her absence were conclusive evidence.

Mr. Jack neither read nor played that afternoon. He walked from the library to the porch and into the library again. He reviewed the time before his marriage when Bert Overton had been a persistent suitor for his wife's hand; he recalled the day on which the engagement was announced, and the manner in which Overton had received the news.

When Mrs. Jack reached home, he had worked himself into an unusual state of mind. But he resolved to be calm.

"Hello, dear!" There was not the slightest hint of guilt in Mrs. Jack's big blue eyes.

"Did you have a good time?" His voice was smooth.

"Fine; did Annie give you enough to eat?"

"Yes, thank you." He was noticeably polite.

"I'm sorry I couldn't get home, but I promised a very dear friend that I would dine out."

"Where did you go?"

"To Manley's."

"Oh, a supper for two, eh?" He could not keep the sneer out of his voice, and she looked at him in wonder.

"What's the matter, dear?" she asked. "Didn't you want me to go?" He smiled grimly at her apparent innocence.

"You know how I feel about such things," he answered, with a hint of dignity in his tone.

"I didn't think you'd care at all," she seemed puzzled.

"Didn't think I'd care!" He flushed angrily.

"Other people do it." Her tone was a trifle defiant. "I don't see why I should not?"

"Yes," he said cynically, "in these modern times a woman may do almost anything. But you know how I feel toward the man, and I think that you might at least have said something to me about it before meeting him."

"I don't know what you mean," she looked at him wonderingly.

"There's no use in beating about the bush," he arose. "Perhaps I shouldn't have done it, but I read a letter of yours which you left on the table."

"What letter?"

"It was from Bert Overton, asking you to have supper with him to-night."

"From Bert Overton?"

"Yes, from him. It was signed with his name."

Suddenly Mrs. Jack burst into pealing laughter, her husband watching her with amazement. Finally she checked herself.

"You foolish man," she said. "Did you think Bert Overton wrote that letter?"

"Think!" Her laughter angered him. "Can't I read?"

"Listen, dear," she placed her hand on his arm. "That letter is from Ruberta Spencer, a college friend of mine. We always called her Bert, and I haven't seen her for years, because as soon as she graduated she went to Chicago."

"Oh!" Mr. Jack smiled rather shamefacedly. "I'm sorry, dear." He placed his hand over hers. "If you don't mind, we'll get Annie to bring in the supper again. I didn't eat very much a while ago."

She smiled into his eyes.

"Of course," she answered. "It will be a supper for two, after all."

ANOTHER GALICIAN TOWN RUSS PRIZE PUSH CONTINUES

PETROGRAD, Aug. 9.—The Galician town of Tysmenica, seven miles east of the city of Stanislaw, was captured by Russian troops under General Lechnitchy Tuesday night. It was officially announced Wednesday afternoon. The Russians took 7,500 prisoners, including 3,500 Germans.

South of the Dniester, Lechnitchy pursued and drove the enemy from a series of heights and villages, capturing the ridge northeast of Tysmenica to the River Dniester and also the right bank of the River Vorona as far as Stokovchies. Of the prisoners captured by Lechnitchy two thousand were mentioned in yesterday's official report.

The official statement shows that the Russians have advanced more than six miles in twenty-four hours in their march against Stanislaw.

Russ Attack Repulsed
BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Repulse of strong and repeated Russian attacks upon the Stochod river front in Volynia is announced by the war office this afternoon. In fighting in the region of Stobychva and north of Kisielin (thirty miles southeast of Kovell), the Russians were rolled back.

THE CROWDED WAYS
Tis but half a truth the poet has sung
Of the house by the side of the way;
Our Master had neither a house nor a home.
But he walked with the crowd by day.
And I think, when I read of the poet's desire,
That a house by the road would be good.
But service is found in its tenderest form.
When we walk with the crowd in the road.
So, I say, let me walk with the men in the road.
Let me seek out the burdens that crush.
Let me speak a kind word of good cheer to the weak.
Who are falling behind in the rush.
There are wounds to be healed, there are breaks we must mend.
There's a cup of cold water to give.
And the man in the road, by the side of his friend.
Is the man who has learned how to live.

Then tell me no more of the house by the road.
There is only one place I can live.
It's there with the men who are toiling along.
Who are needing the cheer I can give.
It is pleasant to live in the house by the way.
And befriend as the poet has said;
But the Master is bidding us "Bear ye their load."
For your rest waiteth yonder ahead.
I could not remain in the house by the road.
And watch the toilers go on.
Their faces beclouded with pain and with sin.
So burdened their strength nearly gone.
I'll go to their side, I'll speak in good cheer.
I'll help them to carry their load.
And I'll smile at the man in the house by the way.
As I walk with the crowd in the road.

Out there in the road that goes by the house
Where the poet is singing his song,
I'll walk and I'll work midst the heat of the day.
And I'll help falling brothers along.
Too busy to live in the house by the way.
Too happy for such an abode.
And my heart sings its praise to the Master of all.
Who is helping me serve in the road.
—Walter J. Gesham.

Sometimes a man avoids a lot of worry by having a poor memory.

ZEPPELINS IN TWO RAIDS ON BRITAIN

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Zeppelins raided the east coast of England early Wednesday morning and another Zeppelin raided Southeast Scotland without penetrating far from the coast, the war office announced.
General French, commander of the home forces, reported this afternoon that one man, two women and three children were killed in a northeast town. Five men, six women and six boys were injured.
The Zeppelins dropped a number

Keeping Yourself Well

BUILDING UP STRENGTH
After a severe illness, or sometimes without that misfortune, many people do not gain strength as they should. Often this is because the food taken is not relished and does not go to the making of rich blood.
Nature should then be aided. It will usually be the case that in the mucous membranes that line most of the body there will be areas of stagnation, with the blood engorged instead of circulating. When these are in the stomach or bowels the food ferments when it might be making strength.
Peruna dispels stagnation in these membranes, invigorates the digestion, tones up the bodily functions, overcomes all catarrhal conditions and starts the organs to working properly. After illness it is a good tonic, used by all with safety.
Liquid or tablet form—each with the same principles—whichever is more convenient, or may be used together.
Mannin is the ideal laxative. It cleans the waste from the system, tones up the liver and helps you overcome the constipation habit. Safe, pleasant, effective. Liquid or candy tablets.

ONLY $4,000 ADDED TO MOTHER'S FUND BY COUNTY BOARD

Disregard Recommendations of Judge Brindley and Guenther and Slice Appropriation

CITY ASKS NEW BRIDGE

Mahoney and Schnell Present Rickety State of the Clinton Street Bridge to the County

Disregarding recommendations of County Judge John Brindley and E. W. Guenther, chairman of the poor and insane committee, who asked for $5,000 for mother's pensions during the balance of 1916, the county board of supervisors, at Tuesday's meeting added $4,000 to the depleted fund. The sum of $5,000 was appropriated originally for the entire year, despite opinions that a sum three times larger would be necessary.

Judge Brindley told the board members that the number of applicants for pensions is increasing and that the smallest fund possible for 1917 would be $12,000. "We shall have to try and get along on this much," he said. He declared that the parsimonious manner in which he was obliged to disburse the funds was not in accordance with the spirit of the men who passed the pension legislation.

A battery of city officials, headed by Alderman P. W. Mahoney and Fred Schnell, president of the board of public works, told the board of the rickety condition of the Clinton street bridge across Black river. Mr. Mahoney endeavored to have the board make an appropriation for a new bridge at Tuesday's meeting. He said the city was ready to follow up action of the county board with an appropriation. Members of the state aid road and bridge committee and District Attorney Otto M. Schlabach, who appeared before the board, were authorized to look into the matter.

"We are asked frequently," said Mr. Schnell, "to open the bridge so that boat houses may be moved up and down. We cannot because the bridge is in such rotten condition that to move it would mean wrecking it."

Alderman Mahoney declared that the bridge has been unsafe for ten years.

Will Otto, adjudged insane here, but now said to be working on a farm in Houston county, will be brought back to La Crosse. The board authorized District Attorney Schlabach to take the necessary action. Otto is wanted for deserting his wife, who is now dependent upon the mothers' pension fund for support. The Houston county sanity commission will be asked to examine Otto. If he is found insane he will be returned. If he is found sane, the district attorney will start extradition proceedings.

The resolution of Supervisor Leonard Kleeber, asking for an appropriation of $100 for a "visiting cell" at the county jail, was rejected by the board.

HEISER DEFENSE INSANITY

Insanity was the defense which Fred H. Hartwell, attorney for Peter Heiser, set up in county court today when his client was brought in for a preliminary hearing on charges resulting from his nearly fatal attack on his sister Anna July 22. Much of the evidence adduced in support of the insanity theory was not printable. The long scar on Miss Heiser's throat where her brother's razor nearly ended her life was plainly visible while she testified. Scars were also visible above her brother's collar.

MOTHER OF FOUR CHILDREN

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her Well and Strong.

Lincoln, Illinois.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for ten years with good results and I have four healthy children. This summer I was in a very run down condition and the very hot weather seemed more than I could stand, but I commenced taking your Compound in June and from then until September 25th, when my last baby was born, I got along much better than I had before. My baby was a girl and weighed 14 pounds at birth, and I recovered very rapidly which I am sure was due to your medicine. I am well and strong now. I nurse my baby and do all my work. I had the same good results with your medicine when needed before my other children came and they are all healthy. My mother has taken your medicine with equal satisfaction. She had her last child when nearly 44 years old and feels confident she never would have carried him through without your help, as her health was very poor."—Mrs. I. F. Cloyd, 1355 North Gulick Ave., Decatur, Ill.

Black Forest Is Crossed By French Flyers

PARIS, Aug. 9.—Flying in the darkness at the rate of nearly a mile a minute, a French air squadron Tuesday night crossed the Vosges mountains and the Black forest of Germany and bombarded the German town of Rothweil on the Neckar river, it was officially announced Wednesday.

The start was made after dark. The distance of 200 miles was covered in three hours and twenty-five minutes (205 minutes). The bombardment caused a great fire and intense explosions. Many other successful air bombing enterprises were carried out by the French during the night. A number of air fights occurred on the Verdun front, where a German aeroplane and a captive balloon were destroyed.

Foreign Markets

New York Stocks
NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The stock market opened with slightly more activity than was shown throughout the day yesterday. Fractional increases in leading issues dispelled the apathy which has been apparent for several days past.

Strength and activity characterized the first hour of the market. Munition shares were strong and there was speculation in United Cigar Stores common. The noon hour found the market strong after a morning of profit-taking. The railroads showed no weakening tendency despite lesser amounts of grain that will be shipped and the possibility of a big railroad strike.

The market closed strong. Railway stocks advanced.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero

Old Side-Wheeler, Eddie Plank, once more, invincible. Eddie held Washington to one hit, a double by Foster in the ninth. He's all in same as Hans Wagner.

The Athletics made it twenty straight. Just a few more and they'll drop through a hole in the cellar.

Ty Cobb was up four times and got only four hits—one of 'em a double. It was an imperfect, but nevertheless wonderful day for Tris Speaker. A triple, a single, a run, three good catches and couple of great pegs in the record.

Left Fielder Schotten of the Browns got three hits for a 1,000 average in the first game and came back with two, one two-bagger for .667 in the second.

Rain caused postponement of three games.

The Indians are perking up once more, only a game and one-half from the top.

RAIN CUTS GAME SHORT WITH THE PHILS IN LEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 9.—Rain stopped play in Cincinnati's half of the eighth inning on Tuesday and the grounds were flooded, preventing the game from being continued and leaving Philadelphia the winner, 5 to 1. The home team bunched hits off Knetzer in two innings, while in another errors helped to give Philadelphia two runs.

Score: R H E Cincinnati 5 8 2 Philadelphia 1 5 2 Batteries: Knetzer and Clarke; Rixey and Killifer. (Called, rain).

LOT OWNERS KICK AGAINST STATE ROAD ON LAND

Independence Farmers and Business Men May Take the Matter Into Court

INDEPENDENCE, Wis.—(Special.)—Tubbs' and Hutchins' addition to the village of Independence was platted some four or five years ago. Diagonally across this addition there was a highway leading into the village.

After the platting of one side and one end was made, a part of the state highway system by the village board, and the "short-cut" road was expected to be closed. The farmers objected, as did also some of the business men.

Last evening the village board vacated the old road. Those opposing the discontinuance of the old highway have retained counsel and proceedings are threatened. Commissioner Rotering, when interviewed regarding the matter, stated that he was not mixed up in the legal battle.

CARRIERS WANT AUTOS

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Rural mail carriers want Uncle Sam to furnish them with automobiles to deliver mail.

Nearly a thousand delegates, representing 30,000 members of the national rural carriers' association met here at their annual convention on Tuesday and advocated delivery of mail in the rural districts by automobile. Good roads, however, they say, are necessary before auto mail delivery.

Don't hurry—remember it was the tortoise that won the race.

GORDON TEES OFF SECOND IN FIRST ROUND FOR TITLE

La Crosse Man Starts at 8:05 on First Leg; Gelatt and Felber Follow in Successive Pairs

GORDON HAS GOOD SCORE

83 Turned in by "Bob" Yesterday in Qualifying Round, Which Put Him in the Fifth Place

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—At 8:05 this morning, Robert Gordon, of La Crosse, who on Tuesday turned in a score of 83 in the qualifying round, teed off with J. R. Anderson, Kenosha, in the first round for the golf championship of the state. The pair was second to start, Guy F. Gregg, Blue Mound, and S. Griffith, Beloit leading.

P. M. Gelatt, La Crosse and S. D. Tallman, Janesville, started off third and C. J. Felber, La Crosse, and C. S. Dickinson, Appleton teed off as the fourth team. Alfred James, La Crosse, and George Yule, Kenosha, donor of the Yule cup won Monday by the Kenosha team, started off in twenty-first place, and were followed by F. H. Hankerson, La Crosse, and G. H. Ripley, Kenosha.

State Champion R. J. Cavanagh, Kenosha was paired with A. A. Jones, Blue Mound.

Gordon Scores Low
Dick Cavanagh with a score of 73, one over par, was low score in the qualifying round. Ned Allis, Milwaukee, and J. R. Anderson, Kenosha, were second with 76. Robert Gordon placed eighth with scores of 43 and 40 for a total of 83. Other La Crosse scores were:

Alfred James 47, 58—97; P. M. Gelatt, 46, 54—100; C. J. Felber 52, 51—103.

Team Scores Last

The La Crosse Country club team finished last in play Monday for the Yule cup, finishing 49 down. The individual La Crosse score:

F. H. Hankerson, 9; P. M. Gelatt, 11; C. J. Felber, 15; R. D. Gordon, 49; Alfred James, 14. Total down, 48.

SENATOR BOSSHARD TO GIVE TALK AT WESTBY PICNIC

Band Is Making Elaborate Preparations for Picnic in Rentz' Grove Sunday

WESTBY, Wis.—(Special.)—Elaborate preparations are being made by the Escapa band to give a picnic in the Rentz Grove next Sunday. The program beginning at 10:30 a. m. promises to be interesting and instructive. The twenty-piece band will furnish music liberally and one of the speakers will be State Senator Otto Bosshard of La Crosse.

Local and Personal

Miss Lillian Nottstedt returned yesterday from Bloomingdale, where she went last Saturday to visit the Misses Lolita Morterud and Daisy Pierce.

Sunday a large crowd attended the picnic given by the North Coon Prairie congregation in the J. Nesting Grove. There was a good program and plenty of refreshments.

The Misses Martha and Ruth Naprud returned Monday morning from Madison where they attended the summer session of the university. Rev. and Mrs. Eikjarud and Lizzie and Mrs. Nelson of Cashton were Westby callers Monday.

Miss Marie Huktven left Monday to spend a few days with friends at Beaver Dam.

Mrs. Pearl Stenson of Onalaska is visiting relatives and friends here.

BOSTON GRABS A GAME FROM HOSE AND LESSENS GAP

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Boston crept one game nearer to the top on Tuesday when they defeated Chicago, 6 to 4. But one-half a game separates the two leaders. The standing is: Chicago, won 61, lost 45, percentage .575; Boston, won 59, lost 44, percentage .572.

Score: R H E Boston 001013100—6 15 1 Chicago 000002101—4 6 2 Batteries: Mays and Cady; Faber, Williams, Cicotte, Donofry and Schalk.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9.—A one-hit game for Eddie Plank and a left handed thrower playing third base were two features in two victories for the Browns over the Nationals today, 2 to 0 and 3 to 1.

With Wallace twisting his right ankle in the first game, Jones was without a third baseman, so Sisler covered the sack. He handled two grounders and made perfect throws to first.

Sisler also was the hero in the opening victory. In the third he put the ball into the right field seats and in the seventh he scored Groom with a double to center. Scores:

First game: R H E Washington 000000000—0 4 2 St. Louis 00010010x—2 11 2 Batteries: Harper, Galia and Henry; Groom and Severoid.

Second game: R H E Washington 000000001—1 1 2 St. Louis 61200000x—9 12 1 Batteries: Ayres, Shaw and Almsmith; Plank, Severoid and Rumlir.

MACKS TIE LEAGUE RECORD BY LOSING TWENTY STRAIGHT

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 9.—By losing Tuesday's game to Detroit, 9 to 0, the defeat being the twentieth consecutive beating that they have taken, the Athletics tied the American league record that was established by Boston in 1906. Boland shut out the Mackmen without effort. Nabors was hit hard and the hits were well bunched. Cobb and Veach did the feature work, getting seven safeties between them.

Score: R H E Philadelphia 000000000—0 6 2 Detroit 12001032x—9 11 0 Batteries: Nabors and Haley; Boland and Baker.

Flavor

Beers are not alike in this regard. Most beers may be good and admittedly pure but lack the desirable Malt and Hop Flavor. Beer too sweet is insipid. ELFENBRÄU is distinctive in flavor, slightly bitter, appetizing and wholesome, proof that just the right amount of hops and malt is used in brewing.
